9. Jealous of Machiya-san

HERE I COME!

You're the opponents, after all.

It's fine for you.

But what about me?

This is a tag team match and I-Yan's supposed to be my partner.

hate you.

YOU STUPID
HICKS!

I really

but it's like they don't even see me.

like I don't exist

AFTERWORD

I thought O-saka in my class looked as cool as her judo gear, so I joined the local judo club, but I broke a few ribs while getting thrown and my nose got mad at me. I also thought O-saka in my class looked cool in her baseball gear and wanted to join the club, but my nose got mad at me then, too. I joined the volleyball club but couldn't keep up with practice and dropped out after one day. I kept at it with the dance club only because I liked listening to my friend's stories. I was the manager of the track team, too, and a bunch of other stuff. I was always trying to be part of some sort of sports activity, but, honestly, it seemed like a lot of wasted effort.

More than anything, I was in love with the idea of being a girl who loves sports. So compared to me, Fuji-san is actually pretty determined.

I hope you'll all bear up on for a little while. Though she's not really a character who makes you want to cheer for her.

By the way

Thankyou so much
Really - really
Thankyou more if you Really read this to make happy
